

Woodland Stirred By Shooting Affray Of Negroes Sunday

One Member Of Little Colony Located There Has His Head Blown Off By Another With a Shot Gun

QUARREL OVER HALF DOLLAR THE CAUSE

The little village of Woodland was occasioned more or less excitement Sunday morning by a wanton murder which occurred at the Harbison-Walker negro colony just this side of the New York Central viaduct between Upper and Lower Woodland.

The Harbison-Walker company has been importing negro laborers from the South for some time, and have erected a row of houses at the point named in which the negroes live.

Saturday night and Sunday is generally given over to drinking and gambling all hands apparently taking part in the festivities.

Saturday a bunch of the negroes went to Philipsburg and fortified themselves with a plentiful supply of Sunday booze. When they arrived home card and crap games are said to have been flourishing and were continued all night long. During the night Joe Williams and Clarence Boozer had a dispute concerning 50 cents. Williams claimed Boozer owed him that amount and the latter denied the charge. However, when the game broke up Boozer held out a handful of change to Williams telling him that if he owed him anything to take it. Williams refused to take the money out of Boozer's hand but leaving the house went to his own house two or three doors distant and returned in an instant with a double-barreled shotgun in his hands.

Black Powder Explosion At Mare Island Yard Kills Many Men

Strict Censorship Makes it Difficult to Get Any Details But Many Horrors Are Reported

(By United Press) Vallejo, Cal., July 9.—Nine persons are missing and are feared to have perished as the result of the explosion which destroyed the magazine at Mare Island Navy Yard today. Thirty persons who were injured are in hospitals but it is not believed any will die.

Women and children are among the dead, according to the latest information at 10:30 this morning by newspaper men investigating the terrific explosion which shocked the navy yard and surrounding cities. No official statement of any kind has been issued.

The black powder magazine in the southeast of the Mare Island navy yard was blown to pieces shortly after eight o'clock this morning.

It is reported that lives have been lost. Workmen who returned to Vallejo which is across the street from the yards declared that the houses have been shattered. It is in these that the casualties have occurred.

Ambulances have been going from the main part of the navy yards to the scene of the explosion. Because of strict censorship it is impossible to get details.

Our workmen who returned to Vallejo declared that all the houses were "blown to pieces." So terrific was the explosion that in south Vallejo windows in the houses were blown out and the houses otherwise badly damaged. Many roofs were blown off. The explosion was felt in Sacramento and even in Oakland.

The portside of the southern Pacific steamer El Capital which was in mid stream when the explosion occurred was blown out. Two doors of the vessel were shattered. Six men on the steamer were injured. The steamer Iroquois which was in the strait at the time was also badly damaged.

FIRST DRAFT MUST FURNISH U. S. WITH 687,000 ACCEPTED MEN IS STATEMENT OF WAR DEPT. TODAY

Oh! That We Could All Be Kids Once Again

The Whole Park is Theirs During the Afternoon and "They Use It"

Clearfield has a real playground. And it would be a safe bet not one out of ten who read this knew it before, much less visited it. Well, at any rate it is here and surely is coming along nicely. The proposition of a playground is one not overly indulged in, and it's full value is not realized by many, yet those who have seen it do, and their children derive the benefit from it. Many parents hold wrong opinions of the playground—think that it teaches bad rather than good, but these are the people who have never seen it, or have never even visited one. Let them do so once and they will be surprised and their children pleased. Surely this has already been shown by the attendance for on Friday last there were between ninety-five and one hundred children there—and from all over town too. Isn't this proof that they do some good? Our playground is situated in the woods of the driving park and is in the capable hands of Miss Vera Ogden. Already the "property" consists of a Victrola, a slide, four swings, two see-saws, together with a couple of sand piles and is growing rapidly. At half past one Miss Vera Ogden blows a whistle and all gather on the dancing pavilion of the old "White House" where they pledge allegiance to Old Glory and following this there is a story by Miss Ogden, while the older boys who do not care to listen have a game of dodge ball or something of the like. Next the younger ones have a grand march and dance to music furnished by Sousa's band on the Victrola. After this they play Luby (or is it Looby) Lou and several other such games and after they are thoroughly interested in these Miss Ogden takes the older ones out and a game of dodge ball is started. Meanwhile the swings, ball diamond, etc., are kept constantly busy so that there is always something to do, and if a child cannot enjoy itself, a physician should be at once consulted. Later in the afternoon the younger children gather at the sand piles and while disporting themselves in them listen to another interesting tale by Miss Ogden. The afternoon passes all too soon and ends with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, before which Miss Ogden makes a strenuous effort to find those who have done improper things during the afternoon and these are all properly attended to. So you see Mr. and Mrs. Doubtful Parent your child will be among the right kind of companions. And what is better for any child it is boy or girl, than a good afternoon's outing in the right place. Don't be afraid to send your children—the playground was made for them, let them enjoy themselves among Nature—not in a hot, stuffy nursery room. If you are still doubtful go look it over for yourself and the next thing you know you will be subscribing money for its upkeep.

There is but one drawback—and that is rowdies, not that they come to the session for they don't—but worse still they do their work at night. It seems that some people cannot bear to see the younger ones have fun and a bunch of "rough necks" from Plymouthville frequently visit the park in the nights and tear things up in general. Strange, isn't it, but thank Heaven, these are few and the good work is thriving despite them.

This Many Needed For The New Army Of 500,000 And Also To Bring Army And Navy Up To Its Full Strength

ENLISTMENTS WILL FIGURE IN QUOTA

Washington, July 9.—The first draft of America's citizenship for war service will be for 687,000 men the War Department announced today. These will be singled from the great registration rolls.

The War Department recommended this number in order to fill the regular army and national guard to war strength and provide for the levy of 500,000 men for the 16 cantonments where the men will be trained for the front.

The states who have patriotically answered the call for regular army and national guard volunteers will have relatively less men to supply by draft than the "slacker" states.

Regulations for the quota which were issued by President Wilson today will be based on the new population with deductions for heavy enlistments although no exact numbers have been given.

Pennsylvania and other states who have responded to the call for regular army and national guard volunteers will profit by deduction. The deductions will be based on the enlistments since April 1. The governor of each state will be advised of the number and the quota will be based on the number of men in each county and city. Each local board will furnish a certain number.

HAVE YOU SEEN LOTTA? LOTTA WHO?

Canning Demonstration Here On Thursday

Every Woman In Clearfield Invited To High School Auditorium

The men, women and children of our county have declared war against Waste, the High Cost of Living and the Kaiser.

With eager patriotism they have planted or enlarged gardens by the thousands. This perishable crop is upon us. The community which fails to save this crop, feed itself inefficiently and lay by reserves for the future is a war-parasite. It takes where it should give.

Here's a splendid opportunity for forceful men and women, immediately to combine their intelligence, vigor and patriotism for the solution of this their own community problem.

State College is sending a demonstrator of preserving and canning methods to Clearfield. The demonstration will be held in the Old High School Building, Thursday, July 12, at 1:30 P. M. Every housewife should refrain from making any engagement other than one for this demonstration.

We owe it to our country and ourselves to give the utmost of time and labor to this solution of our food problem.

Women, Boys And Girls Must Work in Fields From 6 A. M. In Morning to 8 P. M. In Evening

By William Philip Simms

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

With the British Armies in the field, June 26.—(By Mail)—The Prussians rule with an iron rod in the occupied territory of France, as the following items from the diary of an inhabitant of the village of Savy, a few miles to the west of St. Quentin, clearly show.

April 25, 1915.—The Garde Champetre (village constable) has been ordered to inform farmers they are not to cut hay or clover under 500 francs penalty.

April 30. German. make house to house search for grain. The Garde distributes forms to be filled out by farmers showing how much grain they are planting.

May 1. Russian prisoners brought here to pull up sugarbeets for the Germans.

May 4. The inhabitants have been deprived of bread four days because M. Lebrun, the baker is refused flour unless he buys it with German money and there is no German money among Savy civilians.

May 10. Germans, employing Russian prisoners, have broken the last four millstones in Gronnier's mill.

May 17. The Germans have sheared all sheep and taken the wool.

May 21. Beginning today Lebrun is baking bread made of American flour. The ration is 250 grammes per head per day.

May 23. Today is Pentecost. The Curt went to Etroillers to celebrate mass but as he had no laissez-passer the Germans seized him, took him in a cart to Holon and fined him 50 francs.

May 25. Rumor that Italy has declared war against Germany.

July 1. The Garde was sent by the Kommandantur to Henri Catry's house to ask how many wagons he had in his barn. Co's only answer was to hit him in the face, and he is to go to prison in St. Quentin for 14 days.

July 21. Notice on church door states men, women, girls and boys will continue to be requisitioned for work in the field between 4 a. m. and 8 p. m. Those who idle in the fields will be hit with sticks. Those who refuse to work will be put into prison.

July 23. This morning Garde announced that all civilians must salute German officers, men by tipping hats, women by bowing. Fine or imprisonment for refusal.

July 25. At the general census of horses, owners had to stand at their horses heads for six hours. Henry Catry happened to be standing two yards away from his horse and he was hit with a stick by a German gendarme. When he protested he was beaten more severely. An old man lay down by his horse and was beaten and made to stand up. Others were treated in the same brutal manner.

July 28. Germans are making rounds examining every house for bronze and brass objects.

August 17. All fruit must be turned over to the German authorities in Champagne.

Horses Being Bumped Aside By Autos

Poor Old Dobbin Being Bumped Into The Discard

Liveryman F. B. Leavy complains that Saturday last was his worst day, as he had two different horses bumped off the highway, that was more or less damaged.

John Seifridge was driving toward Curwensville in a buggy, when from Leavy's stable and some other sailed along behind him and struck the rear end of the buggy, as he attempted to run around him at the Narrows, bounced horse, buggy and occupants off the road down onto the river bank, badly smashing the rig. The occupants luckily escaped with minor bruises. The driver of the car never stopped to inquire after his victims.

About 10 o'clock Saturday evening an automobile driven by a Mr. Gonigal of the Penn Public Service, crashed into another Leavy's at the far end of the Creek, being at the curve on the Kurts farm and made a complete wreck of the rig. The rig was being driven by Sh. Dougherty, the other occupant, George Gudykunst, who was way home to Barrett. While stuck the buggy tore it loose from the harness and was unhurt. It was thrown out and up but escaped. Buggy was tance on before.

PEACEMAKER IS SHOT

John Moore, of Philadelphia, a messenger in the tax office, was shot to death late yesterday when he attempted to separate two men engaged in a drunken argument at the James Stewart New Year Association club, 1208 South Thirty-fifth street.

Moore was president of the club, which is chartered. When he intervened in the quarrel, according to the police, John O'Brien of Spangler street near Louise, whipped out a revolver and shot Moore through the head.

CRISIS IMPENDING IN GERMAN GOVERNMENT

Berlin, July 7.—Delayed—Unless all present indications fall in the course of the next few days, the German empire is on the eve of a momentous, if not historical, parliamentary upheaval. Developments under the glass dome of the Reichstag building in the last forty-eight hours point squarely to a significant realignment of various factions in favor of sweeping electoral and parliamentary reforms, in spite of the present stubborn resistance of the reactionary old guard.

It has been a day of "excursions and alarms." Following hard upon the heels of the mass of plain-spoken editorial comment based on the hair-trigger tension in the relations between the Reichstag and the government comes the official news that Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General von Ludendorff, his chief of staff have arrived in Berlin for a conference with the emperor.

The identity of the member of the Reichstag who took the bull by the horns and launched forth in a candid exposition of the situation at home and abroad now has been established definitely. The Tagblatt names Matthias Erzberger, a leader of the Clerical Center, as the man who took the lid off the political kettle and paved the way for the discussion which resulted in a common meeting around for all but the pan-German faction in Friday's session of the Main committee.

PRESIDENT PLACES EMBARGO ON FOODSTUFFS

Washington, July 8.—President Wilson today issued his long expected embargo proclamation and made it plain that if the United States is to lead the world it is going to control the business with an iron hand.

The embargo includes every basic commodity in the list of things that may not be exported without the license of the secretary of commerce. The president specifies every country in the world, allied, neutral and enemy, as countries to which the embargoed commodities may not be shipped.

Primarily the embargo was issued to check the export of foodstuffs to neutral territory adjacent to Germany. The president is determined that no more sustenance shall reach our enemies through these mediums.

Will Regulate Exports Today's proclamation does not mean that none of the commodities names may be exported. They may be exported only in such quantities as...

To relieve the stringency and high prices in our country. To effectually prevent the neutrals from sending any possible surplus in to Germany, and To provide as far as possible an equitable distribution of food, fuel and iron supply among the allied nations.

The first effect of this proclamation will be the immediate organization in London of a buying council of the allies. Or established, this council will proceed with the purchase of wheat through a central agency and its allotment to all the countries of the world outside the control powers.

The council immediately will establish an agency in the United States for the purchase of our wheat. It is probable that the federal food administration will be asked to perform this function under the direction of Herbert C. Hoover.

England and Neutrals to Protest This step was not taken without strenuous opposition both from the neutrals and from England. The president has finally been convinced, however, that the instrument of control must be placed in the hands of the United States.

Woodland Stirred By Shooting Affray of Negroes On Sunday

Boozer and another negro named Fred Dixon were standing in the door. Bozzer saw Williams, gun in hand, as he returned the corner of the house and when he raised the gun Bozzer jumped back into the house and called to his companion to do likewise. Instead Dixon stepped out onto the porch as Williams fired and the charge of fine shot struck him in the head blowing part of it away and causing an injury which resulted in Dixon's death in a few minutes.

Williams ran to his home and dropping the gun, secured his coat and beat it into the woods nearby. District Attorney Welch was notified of the murder and was soon on the ground for an investigation into the crime. Search was at once instituted for the murderer and continued all day without result. Last evening Mr. Welch drove County Detective Jeffries and Chief McHenry to Woodland where the officers had arranged to keep watch on the Williams home during the night expecting the wanted man to return during the night.

The search for Williams during Sunday was in charge of Deputy Sheriff John S. Chaplin and besides, Sheriff McHenry and Officers Eddie, Bennehoof and Barger from Clearfield, he had the assistance of about twenty Woodland citizens armed with Winchester, who surrounded the woods where he was hiding and prevented him getting away. Harry Loder drove Detective Jeffrey and Chief McHenry from Woodland to where Williams was picked up, only hitting the high places enroute.

After leaving the officers the District Attorney started for Clearfield and just after passing the watering trough at the Brett farm saw a man ahead of him in the road. He turned his face as the light struck him and Mr. Welch thought from his brief glance that the man answered the description of Williams.

Feeling sure the man was Williams and that he was on his way to Clearfield the District Attorney speeded up his machine and getting to the nearest telephone called the officers at Woodland and told them what he had discovered. They jumped into their car and overtook Williams at the creek bridge. When ordered to throw up his hands by the county detective, Williams promptly complied and when asked if his name was Joe Williams said, "Yes, sir; I'm your man."

Williams said he was on his way in to Clearfield to consult with his friends here over what he had better do. He was placed in jail and will be given a hearing in a few days. When questioned about the crime Williams said he was sorry for Dixon; that he was gunning for the other man and killed the wrong "coon."

He wanted to come up to court and plea guilty this morning. Dixon the dead man was 24 years of age, and has a wife and sister in the negro colony at Woodland.

Misses Laura and Kathryn Toot, of Akron, are spending a couple of weeks with the Misses Beightol, of Wolf Run.

Remarkable Prophecy Of Old-Time Monk

An Authenticated Paper Which Has Received General Comment

The Mansfield Advertiser says: "The following prophecy by the monk, Fratre Johannes, who lived about the year 1600, is remarkable in its application to the present world-crisis. The Advertiser at first doubted its authenticity, because of a few discrepancies in the text, but the matter was referred to the newspaper information bureau at Washington and Director Frederick J. Haskins replied as follows:

"In reply to your letter asking whether the prophecy by the Monk, Fratre Johannes, is real, we would say that this prophecy was discovered on old parchment in the Convent of the Holy Ghost at Wismar, in Germany, and is kept under glass in the town hall of city. There have been numerous translations which text varies somewhat. We are returning your copy of this prophecy."

The discrepancies which we noted, and which you also may notice, are probably due to the variations in the translation of the text. On the whole it is a remarkable prophecy. It is as follows:

"The real Antichrist will be one of the monarchs of his time, a Lutheran Protestant. He will invoke God and give himself out as his messenger, or apostle."

This prince of lies will wear by the Bible. He will represent himself as the arm of the Most High, sent to chastise corrupt peoples.

He will have only one arm, but his innumerable armies, who will take for their device the words, "God is with us" will resemble the infernal legions.

For a long time he will act by craft and strategy. His spies will overrun the earth and he will be master of the secret of the mighty.

He will have learned men in his pay who will maintain and undertake to prove his celestial mission.

A war will afford him the opportunity of throwing off the mask. It will not be in the first instance a war which he will wage against a French monarch. But it will be one of such a nature, that, after two weeks all will realize its universal character.

Not only all Christians, but all Musselmans, but even morde distant peoples, will be involved. Armies will be involved from the four quarters of the earth.

For by the third week the angels will have opened the minds of men, who will perceive that the man is Antichrist and that all will become his slaves if they do not overthrow this conqueror.

Antichrist will be recognized by various tokens—in special he will massacre the priests, the monks, the women, the children and the aged. He will show no mercy, but will pass torch in hand, like the barbarians, but involving Christ.

His words of imposture will resemble those of Christians, but his vows of all the human race.

He will have an eagle in his arms, there will also be an eagle in the arms of his confederate. But the latter will be a Christian, and will die from the malediction of Pope Benedict, who will be elected at the beginning of the reign of Antichrist.

In order to conquer Antichrist it will be necessary to kill more men than Rome has even contained. It will need the energies of all the kingdoms because the Cock, the Leopard and the White Eagle will not be able to make an end of the prayers and the vows of all the human race.

Never will humanity have been faced with such a peril, because the triumph of the Antichrist would be that of the demon, who will have taken possession of his personality.

For it has been said that 20 centuries after the incarnation of the Word the beast will be incarnate in his turn, and will menace the world with as many evils as the Divine Incarnation has brought it graces.

Toward the 2,000-Antichrist will be made manifest. His army will surpass in number anything that can be imagined. There will be Christians among his cohorts and there will be Mohammedans among the defenders of the Lamb as well as some heathen soldiers.

For the first time the Lamb will be red—for blood will flow in the domains of the four elements at once.

The Black Eagle will hurl itself upon the Cock, which will lose many feathers. It will soon be exhausted, but for the Leopard and its claws.

The Black Eagle, who will come from the land of Luther, will make a surprise attack upon the Cock.

The White Eagle will come from the north.

The Black Eagle will find itself forced to let go the cock in order to fight the White Eagle. Thereupon the Cock will have to pounce upon the Black Eagle into the land of Antichrist to aid the White Eagle.

The battles fought up to that time will be as nothing compared to that which will take place in the Lutheran country.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Medical Dept., Training Co. A., Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., June 30, 1917.

My Dear Mother:—

We are training hard these days. We are called at 5:15 A. M. for roll call. At 6:00 A. M. we file into the mess hall for chow. After that each man goes back to his tent and makes up his cot (folds his two blankets and places them at the head of his "bunk"); 7:00 to 7:30 police the camp, (pick up papers, stul, etc.); 7:45 to 8:55 calisthenics; 7:55 to 8:55 anatomy and first aid class; 9:00 to 9:55 infantry drill and marching; 10:00 to 10:55 litter drill and first aid in transporting the wounded; 11:00 to 11:55, lecture by an officer on hygiene, orders and troop work. At 12 o'clock we have mess and at one o'clock instructions in bandaging and carrying for the wounded. At 2 o'clock litter drill, complete instruction in carrying wounded over obstacles, etc.; 3:00 special instruction in caring for men and horses on the march, erecting hospital tents. From 4 o'clock to 6 P. M. drill and marching. At 5:30 we all assemble and roll is called for retreat. Retreat is the most formal occasion of the day. Report in full uniform and stand at attention (the officer in charge of the company saluting) as the cannon is fired and the colors lower, while the band plays the national anthem.

At 6 o'clock chow. At 9:00 P. M. tattoo or lights out and all quiet. At 11 p. m. taps, sounded by the bugler, and thus ends the day.

You must be present at all drills and formations from reveille to retreat. This is a recruit training company and they are whipping us into shape fast. Expect that we will be ready for service before the snow flies. We are supposed to be non-combatants and I believe wear a Red Cross on the left sleeve. However, they wore an automatic on their belt on the border last summer and I understand that the Germans have no respect for the Red Cross.

Many of the chaps I met when I first came are now "somewhere in France." I got about 30,000 of the regulars are there now.

I meet a good many boys that I knew when I was in association work. One of my college chums is in the same tent with me.

There are eight in our tent, all New from home arrived. The boys sure Englanders and New Yorkers.

While writing this letter the box went to it and it certainly was good.

Mother Of Clearfield Banker Dies At DuBois

Mrs. H. S. Whiteman Dropped Dead At Her Home Yesterday Morning

Mrs. H. S. Whiteman, of South Main street, DuBois, died very suddenly Sunday morning about 9:30 o'clock. For some time she had been in failing health, but not confined to her bed. Yesterday morning she arose feeling quite well and about 8 a. m. she prepared breakfast for her husband, who was then at church. After breakfast as he was about to leave the house, he heard her fall. Hastening back he found Mrs. Whiteman at the kitchen doorway dead. The cause of her death was heart trouble, with which she had been afflicted for some time past.

Mrs. Whiteman, at the time of her death was 76 years old. Her maiden name was Caroline E. Strepper and she was a descendant of one of the pioneer families of Montgomery county. She was united in marriage to H. S. Whiteman, at Chestnut Hill, near Philadelphia, on the eighth day of January 1865. After living in Philadelphia and Williamsport the white-man family moved to DuBois about eighteen years ago, living first on Highland street, and then on Main street, where Mrs. Whiteman died.

Mrs. Whiteman is survived by her husband, H. S. Whiteman, Sr., and the following children: Jess Whiteman, of Funksutawney; H. S. Whiteman, Jr., of Clearfield; William Whiteman, of Listie, Somerset county; Louis, of Williamsport; Mrs. Heffer, and Mrs. Charles A. Gaulin, of Philadelphia; Mrs. A. Kerr, of Wilkesburg and Miss Carrie at home. Her grand-daughter, Miss Mary Considine, also made her home with Mrs. Whiteman since the death of her mother, Mrs. J. P. Considine some fourteen years ago.

Mrs. Whiteman was a loving, devoted wife and mother, one of the kindest and best neighbors, a refined, cultured, Christian woman.

So far as arrangements have been made, Mrs. Whiteman will be buried on Wednesday at Williamsport. Mass will be said at DuBois Tuesday morning for the repose of the soul of the departed.

I am enclosing a few pictures. May that you are all well and happy. Write soon.

Your son, CLIFFORD FULTON, P. S. The general name for the men in corps is the Sanitary Troops.

In France, May 31, 1917

Dear Mother and Family: Just a few lines to let you know I am well and hoping that you are all at home. As yet I have not received any mail from home since departing some each day. I suppose it takes quite a while for the mail to reach here when it was sent by way of Washington.

I am sending you two of the pictures we had taken in Blackland. The picture with the fourteen of it is the whole Allegheny bunch with me. The small picture is the fellows from my fraternity.

I am collecting a bunch of views of the towns we are stopping in and going through to bring back with me. We are not allowed to send them through the mail.

We had our third inoculation yesterday. My arm was pretty sore for most of the day but it is much better this evening, does not hurt at all unless I strike it against something.

Yesterday was Decoration Day and I believe it was the first time that I was ever away from home on that day. I was busy all day so did not notice that fact much. If I were still at school today would be the last day of the term, but I suppose they have closed the school long since.

Did you hear that the ship on which we came across was sunk? We have heard since we arrived that it was rumored in the states that our ship had been torpedoed, but thank Heaven we did not even see a submarine.

We are having some very fine weather here now. The sun has been shining nearly every day since we came, but it has not been very warm. Well I think I have told you all I can for this time. Will write again as soon as I can. You can address my next letters to the following address so they will come direct to me instead of being delayed in the other way.

Hoping to hear from you soon I am as ever your son.

Love to all GUY

ELIMINATION SALE

OF

Summer Wash Dresses

BEGINNING

Tuesday Morning, July 10, 1917

SALE

This important sale is just one of those rare and unexpected buying opportunities that we run across every once in a while and which we pass on to our customers. That this announcement will cause spirited buying is a foregone conclusion. Read the details below.

The reason that made possible the opportunity to buy these dresses at much less than actual value are very simple. First of all, the cold and rainy backward season of the past weeks found the manufacturers of these dresses with an unusual stock on hand. Then again we bought the entire lot that had just been set aside at the close-out price. It so happens that our buyer visited the manufacturer of these dresses on the very day they decided to close them out, in consequence of which we had the first opportunity of buying the entire lot at a price far below the actual value. We did not lose a single moment in making the purchase. And so beginning Tuesday morning, when the store opens we place on sale 100 Women's and Misses Pretty New Summer Wash Dresses of plain, striped and figured voiles, and various other popular material.

Tuesday You may take your choice of any Wash Dress in the lot at $9.50

Wednesday You may take your choice of any Wash Dress in the lot at $8.50

Enthusiastic For Action And Cheer While Climbing Aboard Trains

(By United Press)

A French Port, July 9.—America's first expeditionary army in France was entraining for transportation to their new camps close to the battle front today with Major General Sibert just as enthusiastic as his Sammies over the changes which will bring them close to the firing line.

The troops themselves celebrated as they "climored" aboard the trains. Many of the American officers left slightly in advance of the troops.

Hundreds of the townspeople were out cheering the Sammies. Yesterday crowds watched the troops play baseball.

Woodland Stirred By Shooting Affray Of Negroes Sunday

One Member Of Little Colony Located There Has His Head Blown Off By Another With a Shot Gun

QUARREL OVER HALF DOLLAR THE CAUSE

The little village of Woodland was occasioned more or less excitement Sunday morning by a wanton murder which occurred at the Harbison-Walker negro colony just this side of the New York Central viaduct between Upper and Lower Woodland.

The Harbison-Walker company has been importing negro laborers from the South for some time, and have erected a row of houses at the point named in which the negroes live.

Saturday night and Sunday is generally given over to drinking and gambling all hands apparently taking part in the festivities.

Saturday a bunch of the negroes went to Philipsburg and fortified themselves with a plentiful supply of Sunday booze. When they arrived home card and crap games are said to have been flourishing and were continued all night long. During the night Joe Williams and Clarence Boozer had a dispute concerning 50 cents. Williams claimed Boozer owed him that amount and the latter denied the charge. However, when the game broke up Boozer held out a handful of change to Williams telling him that if he owed him anything to take it. Williams refused to take the money out of Boozer's hand but leaving the house went to his own house two or three doors distant and returned in an instant with a double-barreled shotgun in his hands.

Black Powder Explosion At Mare Island Yard Kills Many Men

Strict Censorship Makes it Difficult to Get Any Details But Many Horrors Are Reported

(By United Press) Vallejo, Cal., July 9.—Nine persons are missing and are feared to have perished as the result of the explosion which destroyed the magazine at Mare Island Navy Yard today. Thirty persons who were injured are in hospitals but it is not believed any will die.

Women and children are among the dead, according to the latest information at 10:30 this morning by newspaper men investigating the terrific explosion which shocked the navy yard and surrounding cities. No official statement of any kind has been issued.

The black powder magazine in the southeast of the Mare Island navy yard was blown to pieces shortly after eight o'clock this morning.

It is reported that lives have been lost. Workmen who returned to Vallejo which is across the street from the yards declared that the houses have been shattered. It is in these that the casualties have occurred.

Ambulances have been going from the main part of the navy yards to the scene of the explosion. Because of strict censorship it is impossible to get details.

Our workmen who returned to Vallejo declared that all the houses were "blown to pieces." So terrific was the explosion that in south Vallejo windows in the houses were blown out and the houses otherwise badly damaged. Many roofs were blown off. The explosion was felt in Sacramento and even in Oakland.

The portside of the southern Pacific steamer El Capital which was in mid stream when the explosion occurred was blown out. Two doors of the vessel were shattered. Six men on the steamer were injured. The steamer Iniquis which was in the strait at the time was also badly damaged.

COURT NOTES

Judge Bell held a busy session of Monday morning court this morning and during the time the court was in session disposed of the following criminal cases Emanuel and Dorsey Hockenberry, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a couple of girls of tender age were each fined $100 and costs and allowed to go. They had been in jail for several weeks.

Frank Kone, of Helvetia, charged with assault and battery, was sentenced to pay costs and let go with a reprimand.

Conrad Urban was sentenced to pay $2 per week toward the support of his child. Urban's wife left him because he wanted her to occupy the same room with two or three boarders.

Henry Shaffer, of Sandy township, wife deserter, was again present asking for his liberty. He was returned to jail pending his securing of a proper bond for the payment of $20 per month to his family.

Mike Mozer of Houtzdale, wife beater, was directed to pay his wife $20 per month and the costs of the proceedings against him.

His wife was called to the stand to testify and after she had completed her testimony caused some excitement in the court room by falling in a fit. Proper medical treatment it is said will relieve the poor woman and the court directed that in addition to the $20 payment Mozer also be required to give bond to secure the necessary medical and for the wife before getting his release from jail.

FIRST DRAFT MUST FURNISH U. S. WITH 687,000 ACCEPTED MEN IS STATEMENT OF WAR DEPT. TODAY

Oh! That We Could All Be Kids Once Again

The Whole Park is Theirs During the Afternoon and "They Use It"

Clearfield has a real playground. And it would be a safe bet not one out of ten who read this knew it before, much less visited it. Well, at any rate it is here and surely is coming along nicely. The proposition of a playground is one not overly indulged in, and it's full value is not realized by many, yet those who have seen it do, and their children derive the benefit from it. Many parents hold wrong opinions of the playground—think that it teaches bad rather than good, but these are the people who have never seen it, or have never even visited one. Let them do so once and they will be surprised and their children pleased. Surely this has already been shown by the attendance for on Friday last there were between ninety-five and one hundred children there—and from all over town too. Isn't this proof that they do some good? Our playground is situated in the woods of the driving park and is in the capable hands of Miss Vera Ogden. Already the "property" consists of a Victrola, a slide, four swings, two see-saws, together with a couple of sand piles and is growing rapidly. At half past one Miss Vera Ogden blows a whistle and all gather on the dancing pavilion of the old "White House" where they pledge allegiance to Old Glory and following this there is a story by Miss Ogden, while the older boys who do not care to listen have a game of dodge ball or something of the like. Next the younger ones have a grand march and dance to music furnished by Sousa's band on the Victrola. After this they play Luby (or is it Loozy) Lou and several other such games and after they are thoroughly interested in these Miss Ogden takes the older ones out and a game of dodge ball is started. Meanwhile the swings, ball diamond, etc., are kept constantly busy so that there is always something to do, and if a child cannot enjoy itself, a physician should be at once consulted. Later in the afternoon the younger children gather at the sand piles and while disporting themselves in them listen to another interesting tale by Miss Ogden. The afternoon passes all too soon and ends with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, before which Miss Ogden makes a strenuous effort to find those who have done improper things during the afternoon and these are all properly attended to. So you see Mr. and Mrs. Doubtful Parent your child will be among the right kind of companions. And what is better for any child it is boy or girl, than a good afternoon's outing in the right place. Don't be afraid to send your children—the playground was made for them, let them enjoy themselves among Nature—not in a hot, stuffy nursery room. If you are still doubtful go look it over for yourself and the next thing you know you will be subscribing money for its upkeep.

There is but one drawback—and that is rowdies, not that they come to the session for they don't—but worse still they do their work at night. It seems that some people cannot bear to see the younger ones have fun and a bunch of "rough necks" from Plymouthville frequently visit the park in the nights and tear things up in general. Strange, isn't it, but thank Heaven, these are few and the good work is thriving despite them.

This Many Needed For The New Army Of 500,000 And Also To Bring Army And Navy Up To Its Full Strength

ENLISTMENTS WILL FIGURE IN QUOTA

Washington, July 9.—The first draft of America's citizenship for war service will be for 687,000 men the War Department announced today. These will be singled from the great registration rolls.

The War Department recommended this number in order to fill the regular army and national guard to war strength and provide for the levy of 500,000 men for the 16 cantonments where the men will be trained for the front.

The states who have patriotically answered the call for regular army and national guard volunteers will have relatively less men to supply by draft than the "slacker" states.

Regulations for the quota which were issued by President Wilson today will be based on the new population with deductions for heavy enlistments although no exact numbers have been given.

Pennsylvania and other states who have responded to the call for regular army and national guard volunteers will profit by deduction. The deductions will be based on the enlistments since April 1. The governor of each state will be advised of the number and the quota will be based on the number of men in each county and city. Each local board will furnish a certain number.

Farm Representatives Form Association

One Object Is To Prevent Prices From Coming Down on Produce

St. Paul, July 9.—Representatives of six million American farmers are here today to complete organization of the American Federation of Organized Producers and Consumers which will lead the farmers in an organized fight to prevent war speculation and to insure reasonable prices. Announced objects of the conference are:

First—Establishment of maximum and minimum prices for food products by a commission to be headed by the Secretary of Agriculture.

Second—Prohibition of speculative activities in boards of trade, stock exchanges and chambers of commerce.

Third—Government control of the marketing and distribution of necessities of life.

WHEAT CROP WILL EXCEED CROP OF 1916

Washington, July 9.—The winter wheat crop for 1917 will total 402,000,000 bushels against 482,000,000 bushels in 1916. The spring wheat crop will total 270,000,000 bushels against 158,000,000 in 1916, making the total wheat crop 672,000,000 against 640,000,000 in 1916, the Bureau of Crop estimates forecasted today.

Canning Demonstration Here On Thursday

Every Woman In Clearfield Invited To High School Auditorium

The men, women and children of our county have declared war against Waste, the High Cost of Living and the Kaiser.

With eager patriotism they have planted or enlarged gardens by the thousands. This perishable crop is upon us. The community which fails to save this crop, feed itself inefficiently and lay by reserves for the future is a war-parasite. It takes where it should give.

Here's a splendid opportunity for forceful men and women, immediately to combine their intelligence, vigor and patriotism for the solution of this their own community problem.

State College is sending a demonstrator of preserving and canning methods to Clearfield. The demonstration will be held in the Old High School Building, Thursday, July 12, at 1:30 P. M. Every housewife should refrain from making any engagement other than one for this demonstration.

We owe it to our country and ourselves to give the utmost of time and labor to this solution of our food problem.

Events Of Importance Predicted By German Press For Tomorrow

Editors More Liberal In Their And Openly Suggest That Must Be Governmental Change

INTERNATIONAL LAW MUST GOVERN

Amsterdam, July 9.—"Events of great importance were predicted today by the German press as they happen tomorrow.

The liberal press agreed that the Reichstag must decide whether the people were to be under reaction or liberal government.

The Vorwaertz declared "we are suffering the as our antagonists; all civilization is longing for. The problem must be settled not on a basis of military policy or power but on principals of international law."

Numerous party conferences were held yesterday following Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's audience with the Kaiser and von Hindenberg.

Prussians Rule Occupied Parts Of France With A Rod Of Iron

Women, Boys And Girls Must Work in Fields From 6 A. M. In Morning to 8 P. M. In Evening

By William Philip Simms

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

With the British Armies in the field, June 26—(By Mail)—The Prussians rule with an iron rod in the occupied territory of France, as the following items from the diary of an inhabitant of the village of Savy, a few miles to the west of St. Quentin, clearly show.

April 25, 1915.—The Garde Champetre (village constable) has been ordered to inform farmers they are not to cut hay or clover under 500 francs penalty.

April 30. German. make house to house search for grain. The Garde distributes forms to be filled out by farmers showing how much grain they are planting.

May 1. Russian prisoners brought here to pull up sugarbeets for the Germans.

May 4. The inhabitants have been deprived of bread four days because M. Lebrun, the baker is refused flour unless he buys it with German money and there is no German money among Savy civilians.

May 10. Germans, employing Russian prisoners, have broken the last four millstones in Gromnier's mill.

May 17. The Germans have sheared all sheep and taken the wool.

May 21. Beginning today Lebrun is baking bread made of American flour. The ration is 250 grammes per head per day.

May 23. Today is Pentecost. The Curt went to Etroillers to celebrate mass but as he had no laissez-passer the Germans seized him, took him in a cart to Holon and fined him 50 francs.

May 25. Rumor that Italy has declared war against Germany.

July 1. The Garde was sent by the Kommandantur to Henri Catry's house to ask how many wagons he had in his barn. Co's only answer was to hit him in the face, and he is to go to prison in St. Quentin for 14 days.

July 21. Notice on church door states men, women, girls and boys will continue to be requisitioned for work in the field between 4 a. m. and 8 p. m. Those who idle in the fields will be hit with sticks. Those who refuse to work will be put into prison.

July 23. This morning Garde announced that all civilians must salute German officers, men by tipping hats, women by bowing. Fine or imprisonment for refusal.

July 25. At the general census of horses, owners had to stand at their horses heads for six hours. Henry Catry happened to be standing two yards away from his horse and he was hit with a stick by a German gendarme. When he protested he was beaten more severely. An old man lay down by his horse and was beaten and made to stand up. Others were treated in the same brutal manner.

July 28. Germans are making rounds examining every house for bronze and brass objects.

August 17. All fruit must be turned over to the German authorities in Champagne.

October 13. Rumor of French victory in Champagne.

October 25. American. has offered carbide lamps. They be had at town hall.

October 31. The Germans who arrived on October 19 have left. The burned M. Bluetta's place to places too.

November 18. Sale of milk to civilians forbidden. Same meat kept for sick Germans.

January 1, 1916. From 11 p. m. to 1 a. m. Germans selected Year by firing cannons, machine guns and rifles. The projectiles speedily made and at very height produced colors and lights. The wood of Athill wholly illuminated.

January 6. Cooper taken to Grenier's brewery. At, they cannot provision oneself, even in the The Germans have taken everything.

Horses Being Bumped Aside By Autos

Poor Old Dobbin Being Bumped Into The Discard

Liveryman F. B. Leavy complains that Saturday last was his worst day, as he had two different horses bumped off the highway, that was more or less damaged.

John Seifridge was driving toward Curwensville in a buggy, when from Leavy's stable and some other sailed along behind him and struck the rear end of the buggy, as he attempted to run around him at the Narrows, bounced horse, buggy occupants off the road down onto the river bank, badly smashing the rig. The occupants luckily escaped with minor bruises. The driver of the car never stopped to inquire after his victims.

About 10 o'clock Saturday evening an automobile driven by a Mr. Gonigal of the Penn. Public Service, crashed into another Leavy's at the far end of the Creek, being at the curve on the Kurts farm and made a complete wreck of the rig. The rig was being driven by Sh. Dougherty, the other occupant, George Gudykunst, who was way home to Barrett. While stuck the buggy tore it loose from the harness and was unhurt. It was thrown out and up but escaped. Buggy was tance on before.

MONDAY EVENING, JULY 9, 1917.

We respectfully refer our readers to the prophecy printed on page three of this issue. It is, to say the least, an interesting document and apparently is authentic.

Once more Clearfield county must stand the expense of a murder trial in which, as usual, the criminal is a non-resident of the county. It is fortunate, however, that in this case there is absolutely no doubt as to his guilt and the trial should not take up more than a half day.

Recently this page has been given over largely to topics of interest to the housewife. In accordance with requests from the National Government it must continue to feature these articles for some time. Today we want to request that every housewife read carefully the articles on canning and preserving and follow up the reading by signing and mailing the pledge card which is inserted in this paper. The men have registered for military service. They would not do it voluntarily so the law compelled them. Some one has said that the women will not be conscripted; that they will do their full share in the kitchen which after all is the first line of defense. You may think the signing of this card is meaningless and without effect but once having signed it you will feel as though you are a greater unit in the vast machinery being put in motion by our Food Administrator and will be of infinitely greater usefulness to him in his gigantic task.

DRY IT OR CAN IT

The Department of Agriculture has issued pamphlets giving detailed information regarding the preservation of fruits and vegetables by canning or drying. This is a valuable contribution to the food conservation movement and will undoubtedly produce vastly greater results than the proposed expensive food survey, which could not be completed until there had been an entire change in the location and quantity of the food inventory. In every agricultural community large quantities of fruits are allowed to decay because of want of profitable local markets. Those who have such fruit should can or dry, and offer the surplus thus preserved for sale in the nearest market. Owing to the scarcity of tin, and the high price of glass jars and sugar, preservation by drying should be undertaken where practicable. The Department of Agriculture can give information, but it cannot preserve the fruit and vegetables. The success of that part of the work depends entirely upon the millions of families in possession of the raw materials.

On account of existing conditions The Progress is opposed to anything smacking of gain or profit in the line of a traveling show or organization this year but there is one institution which can come here and leave nothing but good in its trail and its coming will not be a burden on anyone. We refer to the Chautauqua. We are only sorry that the Chautauqua does not as a rule reach the people whom it should reach. Chautauquans too often lose sight of the fact that its greatest benefit would be to those who know it not and instead of focusing all their attention on the people who crave instructive amusement but have to be shown where it is they go to the "easy marks" first in their haste to sell all the tickets which must be sold to guarantee the amount of money necessary to bring the organization here. Chautauquans must not be selfish. Let us stay at home once in a while and turn our "ticket" over to some one who we know would enjoy the afternoon or evening entertainments.

Can Surplus Peas And Snap Beans Easy Way

To Have Good Success They Must Be Canned While Fresh From Vines.

Housekeeper can easily can surplus peas and snap beans, which are beginning to appear in home gardens in many sections. The season has been unusually good for peas, and home gardeners in many localities are reporting unexpectedly heavy yields. Either of these products readily can be canned with no other home equipment than pans or cans and a wash boiler filled with a false bottom of slats to keep the jars from resting on the bottom.

Here are directions given by the United States department of agriculture to the members of girls' canning clubs in the northern and western states.

Do not try to can peas or beans that have been long off the vines—the fresher the vegetables the better the product.

Shell peas. In case of beans string and cut them as if for cooking.

Put the prepared vegetables in a cheesecloth bag or colander and blanch in live steam from boiling water for from 5 to 10 minutes.

Next dip the blanched product quickly in cold water and remove it almost immediately.

Pack the product immediately into hot sterilized glass jars or tin cans. Fill the can as completely with boiling hot water to which has been added 1 level teaspoonful of salt per quart.

Place rubber rings on jars and screw to, almost but not completely tight. The water in the boiled will not enter these partially closed jars. Seal tin cans completely.

Put the jars or cans in boiling water in the wash boiler so that the tops are partly or wholly covered. Sterilize for 180 minutes in the boiling water, counting from the time the water begins to boil again. If other canning outfits are used sterilize as follows:

Water seal 214 degrees 180 min.
5 pound steam pressure 60 min.
10 " " " " 40 min.

Wash and sterilize beans as well as peas. Tender beans may be sterilized for 180 min.

Remove jars from boiler or sterilizer, tighten covers, invert to cool and store in a cool place. Do not use if not closed completely at once.

means that the product in all probability will not keep.

Do not place glass jars to cool in a draft which is liable to cause them to crack. Wrap jars in paper to prevent blanching, and store in a cool place.

If peas are roughly handled in blanching or cold dipping, or split or broken peas are not removed before packing, the liquid in the jars may have a slightly clouded appearance. If sterilizing has been properly done, cloudiness is no evidence that the product has spoiled.

For further information on canning these and other vegetables or for advice in overcoming difficulties, write to your state agricultural college or to the United States department of agriculture.

SAVE BABY BEETS FOR WINTER USE

Washington, D. C., July 9.—Now is a good time for garden owners in many sections who have more beet of the early crop than they can eat in the fresh form and an abundance of glass jars and tin cans, to can baby beets, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

How To Can Baby Beets.

Grade for size, color, and degree of ripeness. Wash thoroughly, use vegetable brush. Scald or blanch in hot water: sufficiently to loosen the skin. Dip quickly into cold water. Scrape or pare to remove the skin. Pack whole vegetables, sliced, or cross section pieces in hot glass pans or tin cans. Add boiling hot water until full. Add level teaspoonful salt per quart. Place rubbers and caps of jars in position, partially seal, but not tight. Cap and tin can completely. Place on false bottom in a vessel of hot water which just covers the containers. Sterilize at boiling temperature in hot water bath (canner) for 90 minutes.

Drying Beets

If the early crop of beets is abundant but jars or cans are not available the surplus young beets may be dried for winter use.

Select young beet grown to size of a pea. Wash and peel raw slice about 1/4 inch thick and dry over a stove or before an electric fan or in the sun. The dried product may be packed in paper bags, or in a vacuum paper bag, or in a vacuum paper bag, or in a vacuum paper bag.

BESSIE LOVE IN "A DAUGHTER OF THE POOR"

"A Daughter of the Poor," starring Bessie Love, will be shown at the Tent this evening.

As the heroine of "A Daughter of the Poor" Bessie Love takes the part of a young girl with an inherent hatred for wealth and all that wealth implies, who finally falls in love with the son of a millionaire, mistaking him for a poor chauffeur. Bessie keeps house for her lazy uncle, who would rather smoke his pipe and sit against life than utilize his muscles. Uncle keeps telling her that he would be worth millions if it were not for his heartless employer, who forces him to work as a night watchman at beggarly wages. But Bessie finally gets a line on the real state of affairs when she visits the factory and finds her relative asleep on the job, while the owner of the factory is working overtime. When the girl discovers that her lover is rich instead of being a downtrodden worker, an opportunity is presented for some of the most telling comedy that the little Fine Arts star has yet achieved.

PEACEMAKER IS SHOT

John Moore, of Philadelphia, a messenger in the tax office, was shot to death late yesterday when he attempted to separate two men engaged in a drunken argument at the James Stewart New Year Association club, 1208 South Thirty-fifth street.

Moore was president of the club, which is chartered. When he intervened in the quarrel, according to the police, John O'Brien of Spangler street near Louise, whipped out a revolver and shot Moore through the head.

PENROSE ATTACKS BRUMBAUGH'S ACTION

Washington, July 8.—Governor Brumbaugh is assuming an arbitrary position in defying all state and federal precedents in making appointments after the Senate has rejected their confirmation," declared Senator Penrose today, commenting upon the action of Pennsylvania's governor in appointing the eight Pennsylvania officials.

CRISIS IMPENDING IN GERMAN GOVERNMENT

Berlin, July 7.—Delayed—Unless all present indications fall in the course of the next few days, the German empire is on the eve of a momentous, if not historical, parliamentary upheaval. Developments under the glass dome of the Reichstag building in the last forty-eight hours point squarely to a significant realignment of various factions in favor of sweeping electoral and parliamentary reforms, in spite of the present stubborn resistance of the reactionary old guard.

It has been a day of "excursions and alarms." Following hard upon the heels of the mass of plain-spoken editorial comment based on the hair-trigger tension in the relations between the Reichstag and the government comes the official news that Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General von Ludendorff, his chief of staff, have arrived in Berlin for a conference with the emperor.

The identity of the member of the Reichstag who took the bull by the horns and launched forth in a candid exposition of the situation at home and abroad now has been established definitely. The Tagblatt names Matthias Erzberger, a leader of the Clerical Center, as the man who took the lid off the political kettle and paved the way for the discussion which resulted in a common meeting around for all but the pan-German faction in Friday's session of the Main committee.

PRESIDENT PLACES EMBARGO ON FOODSTUFFS

Washington, July 8.—President Wilson today issued his long expected embargo proclamation and made it plain that if the United States is to lead the world it is going to control the business with an iron hand.

The embargo includes every basic commodity in the list of things that may not be exported without the license of the secretary of commerce. The president specifies every country in the world, allied, neutral and enemy, as countries to which the embargoed commodities may not be shipped.

Primarily the embargo was issued to check the export of foodstuffs to neutral territory adjacent to Germany. The president is determined that no more sustenance shall reach our enemies through these mediums.

Will Regulate Exports
Today's proclamation does not mean that none of the commodities named may be exported. They may be exported only in such quantities as will be regulated.

To relieve the stringency and high prices in our country.
To effectively prevent the neutrals from sending any possible surplus in to Germany, and
To provide as far as possible an equitable distribution of food, fuel and iron supply among the allied nations.

The first effect of this proclamation will be the immediate organization in London of a buying council of the allies. Or established, this council will proceed with the purchase of wheat through a central agency and its allotment to all the countries of the world outside the control powers.

The council immediately will establish an agency in the United States for the purchase of our wheat. It is probable that the federal food administration will be asked to perform this function under the direction of Herbert C. Hoover.

England and Neutrals to Protest
This step was not taken without strenuous opposition both from the neutrals and from England. The president has finally been convinced, however, that the instrument of control must be placed in the hands of the United States.

Woodland Stirred By Shooting Affray of Negroes On Sunday

Boozer and another negro named Fred Dixon were standing in the door. Bozzer saw Williams, gun in hand, as he returned the corner of the house and when he raised the gun Bozzer jumped back into the house and called to his companion to do likewise. Instead Dixon stepped out onto the porch as Williams fired and the charge of fire shot struck him in the head blowing part of it away and causing an injury which resulted in Dixon's death in a few minutes.

Williams ran to his home and dropping the gun, secured his coat and beat it into the woods nearby. District Attorney Welch was notified of the murder and was soon on the ground for an investigation into the crime. Search was at once instituted for the murderer and continued all day without result. Last evening Mr. Welch drove County Detective Jeffries and Chief McHenry to Woodland where the officers had arranged to keep watch on the Williams home during the night expecting the wanted man to return during the night.

The search for Williams during Sunday was in charge of Deputy Sheriff John S. Chaplin and besides, Sheriff McHenry and Officers Eddie, Bennehoof and Barger from Clearfield, he had the assistance of about twenty Woodland citizens armed with Winchester, who surrounded the woods where he was hiding and prevented him getting away. Harry Loder drove Detective Jeffries and Chief McHenry from Woodland to where Williams was picked up, only hitting the high places enroute.

After leaving the officers the District Attorney started for Clearfield and just after passing the watering trough at the Brett farm saw a man ahead of him in the road. He turned his face as the light struck him and Mr. Welch thought from his brief glance that the man answered the description of Williams.

Feeling sure the man was Williams and that he was on his way to Clearfield the District Attorney speeded up his machine and getting to the nearest telephone called the officers at Woodland and told them what he had discovered. They jumped into their car and overtook Williams at the creek bridge. When ordered to throw up his hands by the county detective, Williams promptly complied and when asked if his name was Joe Williams said, "Yes, sir; I'm your man."

Williams said he was on his way in to Clearfield to consult with his friends here over what he had better do. He was placed in jail and will be given a hearing in a few days. When questioned about the crime Williams said he was sorry for Dixon; that he was gunning for the other man and killed the wrong "coon." He wanted to come up to court and plea guilty this morning.

Dixon the dead man was 24 years of age, and has a wife and sister in the negro colony at Woodland.

Misses Laura and Kathryn Toot, of Akron, are spending a couple of weeks with the Misses Beightol, of Wolf Run.

Remarkable Prophecy Of Old-Time Monk

An Authenticated Paper Which Has Received General Comment

The Mansfield Advertiser says: "The following prophecy by the monk, Fratre Johannes, who lived about the year 1600, is remarkable in its application to the present world-crisis. The Advertiser at first doubted its authenticity, because of a few discrepancies in the text, but the matter was referred to the newspaper information bureau at Washington and Director Frederick J. Haskins replied as follows:

"In reply to your letter asking whether the prophecy by the Monk, Fratre Johannes, is real, we would say that this prophecy was discovered on old parchment in the Convent of the Holy Ghost at Wismar, in Germany, and is kept under glass in the town hall of city. There have been numerous translations which text varies somewhat. We are returning your copy of this prophecy."

The discrepancies which we noted, and which you also may notice, are probably due to the variations in the translation of the text. On the whole it is a remarkable prophecy. It is as follows:

"The real Antichrist will be one of the monarchs of his time, a Lutheran Protestant. He will invoke God and give himself out as his messenger, or apostle."

This prince of lies will wear by the Bible. He will represent himself as the arm of the Most High, sent to chastise corrupt peoples.

He will have only one arm, but his innumerable armies, who will take for their device the words, "God is with us" will resemble the infernal legions.

For a long time he will act by craft and strategy. His spies will overrun the earth and he will be master of the secret of the mighty.

He will have learned men in his pay who will maintain and undertake to prove his celestial mission.

A war will afford him the opportunity of throwing off the mask. It will not be in the first instance a war which he will wage against a French monarch. But it will be one of such a nature, that, after two weeks all will realize its universal character.

Not only all Christians, but all Musselmans, but even morde distant peoples, will be involved. Armies will be involved from the four quarters of the earth.

For by the third week the angels will have opened the minds of men, who will perceive that the man is Antichrist and that all will become his slaves if they do not overthrow this conqueror.

Antichrist will be recognized by various tokens—in special he will massacre the priests, the monks, the women, the children and the aged. He will show no mercy, but will pass torch in hand, like the barbarians, but involving Christ.

His words of imposture will resemble those of Christians, but his vows of all the human race.

He will have an eagle in his arms, there will also be an eagle in the arms of his confederate. But the latter will be a Christian, and will die from the malediction of Pope Benedict, who will be elected at the beginning of the reign of Antichrist.

In order to conquer Antichrist it will be necessary to kill more men than Rome has even contained. It will need the energies of all the kingdoms because the Cock, the Leopard and the White Eagle will not be able to make an end of the prayers and the vows of all the human race.

Never will humanity have been faced with such a peril, because the triumph of the Antichrist would be that of the demon, who will have taken possession of his personality.

For it has been said that 20 centuries after the incarnation of the Word the beast will be incarnate in his turn, and will menace the world with as many evils as the Divine Incarnation has brought it graces.

Toward the 2,000-Antichrist will be made manifest. His army will surpass in number anything that can be imagined. There will be Christians among his cohorts and there will be Mohammedans among the defenders of the Lamb as well as some heathen soldiers.

For the first time the Lamb will be red—for blood will flow in the domains of the four elements at once.

The Black Eagle will hurl itself upon the Cock, which will lose many feathers. It will soon be exhausted, but for the Leopard and its claws.

The Black Eagle, who will come from the land of Luther, will make a surprise attack upon the Cock.

The White Eagle will come from the north.

The Black Eagle will find itself forced to let go the cock in order to fight the White Eagle. Thereupon the Cock will have to pounce upon the Black Eagle into the land of Antichrist to aid the White Eagle.

The battles fought up to that time will be as nothing compared to that which will take place in the Lutheran country.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Medical Dept., Training Co. A., Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., June 30, 1917.

My Dear Mother:—

We are training hard these days. We are called at 5:15 A. M. for roll call. At 6:00 A. M. we file into the mess hall for chow. After that each man goes back to his tent and makes up his cot (folds his two blankets and places them at the head of his "tick"); 7:00 to 7:30 police the camp, (pick up papers, stul, etc.); 7:45 to 8:55 calisthenics; 7:55 to 8:55 anatomy and first aid class; 9:00 to 9:55 infantry drill and marching; 10:00 to 10:55 litter drill and first aid in transporting the wounded; 11:00 to 11:55, lecture by an officer on hygiene, orders and troop work. At 12 o'clock we have mess and at one o'clock instructions in bandaging and carrying for the wounded. At 2 o'clock litter drill, complete instruction in carrying wounded over obstacles, etc.; 3:00 special instruction in caring for men and horses on the march, erecting hospital tents. From 4 o'clock to 6 P. M. drill and marching. At 5:30 we all assemble and roll is called for retreat. Retreat is the most formal occasion of the day. Report in full uniform and stand at attention (the officer in charge of the company saluting) as the cannon is fired and the colors lower, while the band plays the national anthem.

At 6 o'clock chow. At 9:00 P. M. tattoo or lights out and all quiet. At 11 p. m. taps, sounded by the bugler, and thus ends the day.

You must be present at all drills and formations from reveille to retreat. This is a recruit training company and they are whipping us into shape fast. Expect that we will be ready for service before the snow flies. We are supposed to be non-combatants and I believe wear a Red Cross on the left sleeve. However, they wore an automatic on their belt on the border last summer and I understand that the Germans have no respect for the Red Cross.

Many of the chaps I met when I first came are now "somewhere in France." I got about 30,000 of the regulars are there now.

I meet a good many boys that I knew when I was in association work. One of my college chums is in the same tent with me.

There are eight in our tent, all New from home arrived. The boys sure Englanders and New Yorkers.

While writing this letter the box went to it and it certainly was good.

Mother Of Clearfield Banker Dies At DuBois

Mrs. H. S. Whiteman Dropped Dead At Her Home Yesterday Morning

Mrs. H. S. Whiteman, of South Main street, DuBois, died very suddenly Sunday morning about 9:30 o'clock. For some time she had been in failing health, but not confined to her bed. Yesterday morning she arose feeling quite well and about 8 a. m. she prepared breakfast for her husband, who was then at church. After breakfast as he was about to leave the house, he heard her fall. Hastening back he found Mrs. Whiteman at the kitchen doorway dead. The cause of her death was heart trouble, with which she had been afflicted for some time past.

Mrs. Whiteman, at the time of her death was 76 years old. Her maiden name was Caroline E. Strepper and she was a descendant of one of the pioneer families of Montgomery county. She was united in marriage to H. S. Whiteman, at Chestnut Hill, near Philadelphia, on the eighth day of January 1865. After living in Philadelphia and Williamsport the white-man family moved to DuBois about eighteen years ago, living first on Highland street, and then on Main street, where Mrs. Whiteman died. Mrs. Whiteman is survived by her husband, H. S. Whiteman, Sr., and the following children: Jess Whiteman, of Punxsutawney; H. S. Whiteman, Jr., of Clearfield; William Whiteman, of Lisle, Somerset county; Louis, of Williamsport; Mrs. Heffer, and Mrs. Charles A. Gaulin, of Philadelphia; Mrs. A. Kepp, of Wilkesburg and Miss Carrie at home. Her grand-daughter, Miss Mary Considine, also made her home with Mrs. Whiteman since the death of her mother, Mrs. J. P. Considine some fourteen years ago.

Mrs. Whiteman was a loving, devoted wife and mother, one of the kindest and best neighbors, a refined, cultured, Christian woman.

So far as arrangements have been made, Mrs. Whiteman will be buried on Wednesday at Williamsport. Mass will be said at DuBois Tuesday morning for the repose of the soul of the departed.

I am enclosing a few pictures. May that you are all well and happy. Write soon.

Your son,

Dear Mother and Family:
Just a few lines to let you know I am well and hoping that you are all at home. As yet I have not received any mail from home since my departure some each day. I suppose it takes quite a while for the mail to reach here when it was sent by way of Washington.

I am sending you two of the pictures we had taken in Blackland. The picture with the fourteen of it is the whole Allegheny bunch with me. The small picture is the fellows from my fraternity.

I am collecting a bunch of views of the towns we are stopping in and going through to bring back with me. We are not allowed to send them through the mail.

We had our third inoculation yesterday. My arm was pretty sore for most of the day but it is much better this evening, does not hurt at all unless I strike it against something.

Yesterday was Decoration Day and I believe it was the first time that I was ever away from home on that day. I was busy all day so did not notice that fact much. If I were still at school today would be the last day of the term, but I suppose they have closed the school long since.

Did you hear that the ship on which we came across was sunk? We have heard since we arrived that it was rumored in the states that our ship had been torpedoed, but thank Heaven we did not even see a submarine.

We are having some very fine weather here now. The sun has been shining nearly every day since we came, but it has not been very warm.

Well I think I have told you all I can for this time. Will write again as soon as I can. You can address my next letters to the following address so they will come direct to me instead of being delayed in the other way.

Hoping to hear from you soon I am as ever your son.

Love to all

SALE

This important sale is just one of those rare and unexpected buying opportunities that we run across every once in a while and which we pass on to our customers. That this announcement will cause spirited buying is a foregone conclusion. Read the details below.

The reason that made possible the opportunity to buy these dresses at much less than actual value are very simple. First of all, the cold and rainy backward season of the past weeks found the manufacturers of these dresses with an unusual stock on hand. Then again we bought the entire lot that had just been set aside at the close-out price. It so happens that our buyer visited the manufacturer of these dresses on the very day they decided to close them out, in consequence of which we had the first opportunity of buying the entire lot at a price far below the actual value. We did not lose a single moment in making the purchase. And so beginning Tuesday morning, when the store opens we place on sale 100 Women's and Misses Pretty New Summer Wash Dresses of plain, striped and figured voiles, and various other popular material.

Tuesday You may take your choice of any Wash Dress in the lot at $9.50

Wednesday You may take your choice of any Wash Dress in the lot at $8.50

Sammies Going Nearer Fields Of Battle

Enthusiastic For Action And Cheer While Climbing Aboard Trains

(By United Press)

A French Port, July 9.—America's first expeditionary army in France was entraining for transportation to their new camps close to the battle front today with Major General Sibbert just as enthusiastic as his Sammies over the changes which will bring them close to the firing line. The troops themselves celebrated as they "climored" aboard the trains. Many of the American officers left slightly in advance of the troops. Hundreds of the townspeople were out cheering the Sammies. Yesterday crowds watched the troops play baseball.

TODAY'S THRIFT THOUGHT

Meat Pie

Cut meat into fairly small pieces. Stew in saucepan with a little water, left-over gravy or soup, salt to taste, and such seasoning: vegetable as onions and celery if desired. Thicken liquid with flour. Line baking dish with biscuit dough, pour in the meat filling, cover with biscuit dough and bake in a medium oven.

If the quantity of meat is small, a little macaroni or diced potato may be added.

Such pies to be at their best must be well seasoned.

Workmen employed by D. R. Woolridge, unearthed a 3½ foot vein of coal on his land at the head of Market street and the result will be a flourishing coal operation within three and one-half squares of the court house.
